1	Human trafficking: an organised crime?/ Jespersen, Sasha - Hurst & Company London , 2019 ;xiii, 210p.	53081
	According to this book human trafficking extends far beyond the stereotypical image of forced prostitution, affecting various industries globally. Victims, often coerced or deceived, move through different stages, from smuggled migrants to trafficking victims and back again. This complex issue involves organized crime, making victims complicit in their own exploitation. The involvement of criminal networks amplifies the dangers for victims and challenges detection and intervention efforts. Field research in Albania, Eritrea, Nigeria, and Vietnam reveals a dynamic business model adapting to legal and enforcement changes.
2	Humour and the performance of power in South Asia: anxiety, laughter and politics in unstable times / Perera, Sesanka & Pathak, Dev Nath - Routledge London , 2022 ;xiii, 194p.	53082
	This book delves into the intricate relationship between humour and power dynamics in South Asia, particularly during times of political upheaval or instability. Through essays from India, Sri Lanka, and Bangladesh, it explores how humour functions and manifests in various forms, such as dance-drama, stand-up comedy, cartoons, memes, and satire. By examining historical and contemporary themes, including civic participation, media influence, and political commentary, the volume sheds light on humour's role as a narrative reflecting the nature of democracy in the region. From folklore to online technologies, it analyzes the impact of humour across different cultural, social, and technological platforms. This interdisciplinary work will be invaluable for scholars and researchers in cultural studies, political science, sociology, media studies, and South Asian studies.
3	India and Central Asia: The Mythmaking and International Relations of a Rising Power/ Kavalski, Emilian - Bloomsbury New Delhi , 2022 ;xi, 255p.	53083
	This book offers a comprehensive examination of India's foreign policy, with a specific focus on its engagement with Central Asia amidst a backdrop of global geopolitics. Emilian Kavalski explores India's increasing international presence, driven by economic growth and political dynamics, including tensions with Pakistan. Against the backdrop of the 'new Great Game' in Central Asia, involving Russia, China, and the US, the book delves into India's ambitions, capabilities, and interactions with major powers. "India and Central Asia" provides a timely analysis of a rising power's foreign policy in a politically volatile region.
4	India and the changing geopolitics of oil: / Bhandari, Amit - Routledge New York, 2022 ;xi, 94p.	53084
	This book delves into India's evolving role in the global energy landscape, focusing on its emergence as the world's third-largest importer of oil. It analyzes the shifting dynamics of oil demand and supply, as well as the growing importance of natural gas, renewable energy, and alternative sources. Examining India's quest for energy security amidst changing geopolitical relations, economic sanctions, and competition with China, the volume explores strategies such as building partnerships, investing in stable oil-rich countries, and utilizing market mechanisms. With insights relevant to international relations, geopolitics, energy studies, and trade, this book is essential reading for scholars, policymakers, diplomats, and professionals across various fields.

- 5 India and UN Peacekeeping: Through the Prism of Time/ Goswami, P.K. - 53085
Knowledge World New Delhi , 2023 ;xix, 500p.

The book is a comprehensive compendium that delves into India's significant contributions to UN Peacekeeping Operations (UNPKO) over a period of 60 years. It compiles articles originally published in the USI Journal and other USI publications, shedding light on various aspects of India's involvement in UNPKO missions. These articles cover reflections from authors who participated in UN peacekeeping missions in Korea, Congo, Yugoslavia, Somalia, Sierra Leone, Ethiopia, Eritrea, and Sudan. Of particular value are the compiled talks by prominent figures such as Mr. Kofi Annan, the former UN Secretary-General, and Mr. Lakhdar Brahimi, former Foreign Minister of Algeria and head of the Brahimi Panel Report, delivered at the USI of India in 2001.

- 6 India-China rivalry, asymmetric no longer: an assessment of China's evolving perceptions of India / Singh, Abhay Kumar - 53086
Knowledge World Publishers New Delhi , 2021 ;xi, 212p.

This book offers a unique perspective on the bilateral dynamics between India and China by examining China's mental and emotional perceptions of India. Rather than focusing solely on the power asymmetry between the two nations, it delves into China's contemporary perceptual image of India through analysis of Chinese publications. The book challenges the notion of characterizing the rivalry as one-sided, arguing that India is seen as a strategic rival by China, despite not being its principal rival. As India strengthens its defense capabilities and expands its regional influence, Beijing increasingly factors New Delhi into its strategic calculations. Authored by Abhay Kumar Singh, a Research Fellow at the Manohar Parrikar Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses in New Delhi, the book contributes to understanding the complex dynamics shaping the geopolitical order in the Indo-Pacific region.

- 7 India Migration Report 202: Migrants And Health/ Rajan,S.Irudaya - 53087
Routledge New York, 2022 ;xxix,324p.

According to this book India Migration Report 2021 presents a detailed study on the health of migrants. It highlights major healthcare challenges faced by migrant labourers, especially in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, which has forced authorities, policymakers and many other stakeholders to turn their attention to healthcare delivery unlike ever before.

- 8 India, Vietnam and the Indo-Pacific: expanding horizons / Jha, Pankaj - 53088
Routledge New York, 2021 ;xi, 16p.

This book provides a comprehensive examination of the bilateral relations between India and Vietnam in the 21st century within the context of the Indo-Pacific geopolitical construct. It explores how this framework enhances their engagement amidst the changing dynamics of international competition, including the rise of China, the role of the United States and Japan, and the evolving stance of ASEAN. The volume delves into political, economic, defense, and strategic dimensions of the relationship, while also analyzing India's Act East Policy and its impact on regional dynamics. A significant contribution to the field of international relations, the book will be invaluable for students and researchers in maritime studies, security studies, geopolitics, and

- 9 Indian Tribes/ Beniwal, Anju - K.K. Publication New Delhi, 2018 ;viii,163p. 53089
This book examines the pressing tribal issues arising from globalization's spread, as tribal communities find themselves on the forefront of its expansion. Situated in pristine environments abundant with resources, such as forests and minerals, tribes face significant changes as they adapt to modern ways of living. The traditional customs and lifestyle of these communities are evolving, prompting a shift towards modernization. Through this exploration, the book calls for societal awareness and proactive engagement with these complex dynamics.
- 10 India's approach to border management: from barriers to bridges / Das, Pushpita - Knowledge World New Delhi , 2021 ;xx, 366p. 53090
This book offers a comprehensive examination of India's approach to managing its international borders, highlighting the factors that have influenced this framework. It argues that India's response has been shaped by persistent cross-border threats and challenges, leading to a security-centric approach characterized by border hardening and underdevelopment of border areas to counter external conventional threats. In addition to analyzing the threats faced by India along its borders, the book explores various border management practices, including the establishment of border guarding forces, physical and electronic fencing, initiatives to facilitate legitimate cross-border travel, development programs for border areas, and efforts to enhance trade and connectivity through bilateral cooperation mechanisms.
- 11 India's fragile borderlands: the dynamics of terrorism in north east India / Upadhyay, Archana - I.B. Tauris London , 2009 ;xix, 308p. 53091
This Book provides a thorough analysis of terrorism in India's North East, focusing on its origins, impact, and international ramifications. It explores how terrorism in the region, stemming from cultural identity issues and perceived discrimination by the Indian state, has evolved from local groups to globally connected organizations. The book examines the causes and manifestations of terrorism, counter-terrorism efforts, and the region's geopolitical significance. Archana Upadhyay delves into the ideologies driving these groups and their connections with organized crime. This insightful study is essential reading for students of Politics, History, and International Relations.
- 12 India's grand strategy and foreign policy: strategic pluralism and subcultures / Beitelmaier-Berini, Bernhard - Routledge Newyork , 2022 ;xi, 200p. 53092
The book explores the competing grand strategic worldviews shaping India's foreign and security policies by analyzing the interaction between normative modern International Relations theories and vernacular concepts of statecraft and strategy. To assess the diverse competing ideas which characterize India's debates on grand strategy and foreign policy, the author presents the subculture-cleavage model of grand strategic thought. This innovative analytical framework reveals the complexities of India's strategic pluralism and offers the building blocks for a systematic analysis of grand strategy formation. The book demonstrates that the strategic paradigms, or strategic subcultures, are marked by contending ideas of Indian statehood and civilization, held by policymakers and the informed public, and are a result of ideology-driven perceptions of the country's strategic environment. The author argues that the apparent hybridization and stretching of modern and traditional concepts of international relations in India has become a widespread feature of Indian foreign policy to meet the needs of state formation and nation-building. A unique approach to organising and understanding the debates and discourse in Indian strategic thinking, the book will be of interest to specialists and students in the field of International Relations, political theory, South Asian Studies and India's foreign and security policy--

- 13 India's Pakistan Conundrum: Managing a Complex Relationship / Sabharwal, Sharat - Routledge Newyork , 2021 ;228p. 53093

This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the complex relationship between India and Pakistan, delving into the historical conflicts and lack of trust that have characterized their interactions. It examines the internal dynamics of the Pakistani state and its impact on India, offering insights into key issues in the bilateral relationship. Drawing on the author's diplomatic experience, including as the High Commissioner of India to Pakistan, the book presents a range of policy options for addressing the challenges posed by Pakistan and proposes a way forward for India's Pakistan policy. With its insider's perspective and scholarly approach, the book is a significant contribution to diplomatic history and foreign policy analysis, appealing to both general readers and scholars in various fields including foreign policy, international relations, and South Asia studies.

- 14 Indigenous intergenerational resilience: Confronting cultural and ecological crisis/ Williams, Lewis - Routledge New York, 2022 ;viii, 225p. 53094

This book advocates for greater indigenous-led intergenerational resilience to address contemporary crises like climate change and cultural clashes. It argues that these crises, though often treated separately in media, are interconnected and rooted in structures of white supremacy. By integrating the wisdom of elders with the vision of youth, the book proposes a holistic approach to confronting these challenges. Its inclusive perspective on Indigenous-led resilience is valuable for interdisciplinary scholars working on human-ecological resilience, both Indigenous and non-Indigenous.

- 15 Information Organization and Dissemination Through Subject Gateways: / Sanyal, Surojit - Ess Ess New Delhi , 2021 ;144p. 53095

It then provides a detailed description of the development of 164 subject gateways worldwide, presented in tabular format. Additionally, the book offers guidance on how to develop a subject gateway. Finally, it concludes with a comprehensive bibliography on subject gateways for further reading.

- 16 Infrastructure of injustice: state and politics in Manipur and Northeast India / Ziipao, Raile Rocky - Routledge New York, 2021 ;xii, 188p. 53096

This book examines the dynamics of infrastructure development in Northeast India especially Manipur from a socio-anthropological perspective. It looks at the pattern and distribution of infrastructure in the region to analyse the impact of education, roads and healthcare on the livelihoods, ecosystems, governance, and social futures of communities. The volume examines the infrastructure deficit in the conflict-ridden state of Manipur, focusing especially on electricity and roads. The author shows how problems arising from poor infrastructure are further complicated on account of corruption, insurgency, ethnic unrest and the politics of

- marginalization. Looking at the discourse around development in the Northeast, the volume also highlights the structural inequality in Manipur and other states. It further shows how infrastructure development can become a means for enabling trade, creating markets, diluting boundaries between varied ethnic groups and connecting people. This book will be useful for researchers and scholars of development studies, economics, social anthropology, sociology and public policy particularly those interested in India's Northeast--
- 17 India InThe G20: Rule- Taker to Rule- Maker/ Kriplani, Manjeet - Routledge New York, 2022 ;vii,132p. 53097
- This book examines the significance of India's upcoming presidency of the G20 Summit in 2023, highlighting the opportunity for India to assert its influence on global economic governance. - 32 Islam, law, and the modern state: (re)imagining liberal theory in Muslim contexts 53112
/ Jamal, Arif A. - Routledge New York, 2018 ;xi,149p.
- This book explores the global phenomenon of the (re)emergence of religion into issues of public debate, one of the most salient issues confronting contemporary Muslim societies is how to relate the legal and political heritage that developed in pre-modern Islamic polities to the political order of the modern states in which Muslims now live. This work seeks to develop a framework for addressing this issue. The central argument is that liberal theory, and in particular justice as discourse, can be normatively useful in Muslim contexts for relating religion, law and state. Just as Muslim contexts have developed historically, and continue to develop today, the same is the case with the requisites of liberal theory, and this may allow for liberal choices to be made in a manner that is not a renunciation of Muslim heritage.
- 33 Justice and the meritocratic state/ Mulligan, Thomas - Routledge New York , 2018 53113
;xi, 225p.
- This book described to address societal divisions by emphasizing the concept of meritocracy, which focuses on allocating resources based on what individuals deserve. By offering insightful analysis and thoughtful prescriptions, it aims to steer policymakers towards ethically sound and socially responsible decision-making processes. With a focus on improving the global human condition, the book serves as a valuable resource for those seeking to address socio-economic challenges with integrity and compassion.
- 35 Kant and Parfit: the groundwork of morals / Sarkar, Husain - Routledge New York 53115
, 2018 ;xviii, 375p.

- This book critically examines Derek Parfit's influential work "On What Matters," particularly focusing on his argument for the integration of deontology and contractualism leading to utilitarian conclusions, which the author terms "The Ultimate Derivation." Husain Sarkar contends that this derivation is untenable, traversing Parfit's terrain to demonstrate its flaws. Sarkar delves into Parfit's engagement with ethical thinkers like Kant, Rawls, and Scanlon, highlighting a utilitarian bias. Furthermore, Sarkar argues that Parfit's Triple Theory fails to unify conflicting moral theories without substantial utilitarian assumptions. The book concludes with a critique of Parfit's Convergence Principle in meta-ethics. Despite acknowledging Parfit's humane concerns, Sarkar maintains that Parfit's work falls short in its ambitious aims.

- 66 Pakistan's Security Dynamics and Nuclear Weapons: / Nayan, Rajiv & Chawla, Shalini - K W Publishers Pvt Limited New Delhi , 2022 ;xix, 315p. 53146
- This book tells about Pakistan's nuclear thinking, its ambiguous doctrine, and posture-revolving around the much-acclaimed full spectrum deterrence, remains critical for Indian policymakers and the international security community. The Pakistani security rationale is indeed one of the crucial dimensions of Pakistan's complex dynamics. With all the existing domestic, economic, and security challenges, which are detrimental to nation's growth, the stable factor has been Pakistan's military and nuclear build-up. Past experience suggests its acquisition of nuclear weapons and expansion of the arsenal will continue to be rationalised as an ultimate guarantee of security, deterrent to Indian conventional military superiority, to perceived threat perceptions vis-à-vis India, and to provide an umbrella to pursue a proxy war through terrorism. In this context, it is important to undertake a study on Pakistan's security dimensions and its nuclear positioning to allow India to evaluate its options against Pakistan.
- 67 Pakistan's security and the India-US strategic partnership : nuclear politics & national security / Bukhari, Syed Shahid Hussain - Routledge New York , 2021 ;x, 264p. 53147
