Contents

In the Time of Coronavirus

- 7 From Wuhan to the World: How the Pandemic Will Reshape Geopolitics François Heisbourg
The COVID-19 pandemic has reinforced the power of the state in its traditional role as protector of society from outside threats.
- 25 Strategy for a Pandemic: The UK and COVID-19 Lawrence Freedman
In retrospect, the strategy developed in early March assumed that the UK had more time to implement its responses than was available, and more control over the development of the pandemic than was realistic.
- 77 The Scientific Response to COVID-19 and Lessons for Security Gigi Kwik Gronvall
While many aspects of the response to the pandemic were wanting, the extraordinary global mobilisation of the scientific community is a source of hope.

Commentary

- 93 Sanctioning Pandemic-plagued Iran Mark Fitzpatrick
The US is applying sanctions to Iran indiscriminately, contravening a moral and reputational imperative to ensure that American policies do not contribute to more COVID-19 deaths.
- 103 Subtle Connections: Pandemic and the Authoritarian Impulse Steven Simon
The current crisis is setting ominous precedents for would-be authoritarians, but it does not appear to be a game changer in the tussle between democratic and authoritarian regimes.
- 112 Noteworthy

Reconsiderations

- 115 Spin-on: How the US Can Meet China's Technological Challenge David C. Gompert
Now that China is all-in for technological competition, both the presumption of American primacy and the proper roles of US government and industry are open to debate.

On the cover
Families pray at the graves of COVID-19 victims in Jakarta, Indonesia, on 2 April 2020.

131 War in the Grey Zone: Historical Reflections and Contemporary Implications

Geraint Hughes

Democratic powers like the US and the UK have extensive experience of operating within the grey zone, and states that practise grey-zone warfare can be countered.

Regional Power and Geopolitics

159 Germany, Japan and the Fate of International Order Ellis S. Krauss and

Hanns W. Maull

Should Germany or Japan become more like 'normal' great powers, this would undermine, rather than strengthen, international peace and stability.

179 Together or Apart? The European Union's East–West Divide Veronica Anghel

Democratically immature EU member states continue to act like mere guests in the European club, taking minimum responsibility for upholding EU rules and exercising little power in Union affairs.

Review Essays

203 What Is This Thing Called Peace? Mats Berdal

Three books on peacekeeping explore the elusiveness and complexity, but also the feasibility, of UN-facilitated peace.

221 Great Leaders and Bad History Rodric Braithwaite

In The Human Factor, Archie Brown argues plausibly that certain leaders – Mikhail Gorbachev in particular – have made a difference in the course of history, even if constrained by structural factors.

Book Reviews

231 Culture and Society Jeffrey Mazo

238 Latin America Russell Crandall with Frederick Richardson

245 Europe Erik Jones

Closing Argument

253 CIA Agonistes Jonathan Stevenson

The COVID-19 pandemic appears to be a source of new pressure on the US intelligence community to generate tendentious intelligence.
